Hexham Farmers' Market is a twice monthly farmers' market based in the historic market town of Hexham in Northumberland. Our aim is to offer our customers a wide range of fresh, locally produced foods of a high quality and at a fair price.

You will usually find somewhere between 20 and 30 stalls selling a wide range of meats, vegetables, breads and pies, soups, jams and pickles, cakes and cordials and many other products.

All our products are produced within 50 miles of Hexham and you will always find someone on the stall who can tell you about the product they're selling. After all, they are the producers of the foods and are passionate about what they do.

Our products change through the seasons and we celebrate that seasonality. If you want to keep in touch and get up to date information of what's going on, you can 'like' us on Facebook. There's a voucher for the 150th person to like our page! You can also now follow us on Twitter
